ON-DEMAND Online Training "Series" (Third in a Three-Part Series) Understanding and Using Microbial Computer Modeling in Food Microbiology Maximize learning and minimize expense: Register for all three parts and save $150 OR take any one as a stand-alone course.

Location: Your Computer

Offering # 0805-702

Priority Code: 520

WHO SHOULD ATTEND

This course is designed for food industry microbiologists and QA/QC personnel who are interested in learning more about computer models for microbial behavior in foods.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES

After completing this online course you will be able to:

- State the three basic types of models used in food microbiology
- Explain the steps used in the creation and validation of computer models
- Describe the uses and limitations of computer models in food microbiology

COURSE DESCRIPTION

This 90-minute online training course provides an introduction to the topic of predictive modeling for the food microbiologist. It covers the three basic types of models (primary, secondary and tertiary). It also discusses the steps used in the creation of models, as well as their proper use and potential for misuse.

Module 1:

- Modeling history and overview
- Steps in modeling building
- Types of models

Module 2:

- Primary models
- Secondary models
- Tertiary models

Module 3:

- Creating models
- Using models
- Limitations of models
- Models available online

COURSE DIRECTOR

Donald W. Schaffner, Ph.D., Extension Specialist in Food Science and Professor at Rutgers, The State University of New Jersey

ACCREDITATIONS

The Center for Professional Advancement has been approved as an Authorized Provider by the International Association for Continuing Education and Training (IACET), 8405 Greensboro Drive, Suite 800, McLean, VA 22102. In obtaining this approval, The Center for Professional Advancement has demonstrated that it complies with the ANSI/IACET Standards which are widely recognized as standards of good practice internationally. As a result of their Authorized Provider membership status, The Center for Professional Advancement is authorized to offer IACET CEUs for its programs that qualify under the ANSI/IACET Standards.

The American Association of Family and Consumer Sciences has approved this course for 1 Professional Development Units.
